This is Jimmy. Jimmy loves to spend time with his family. But Jimmy sells sandwiches and the cost of both living and buying sandwich supplies is ridiculous.

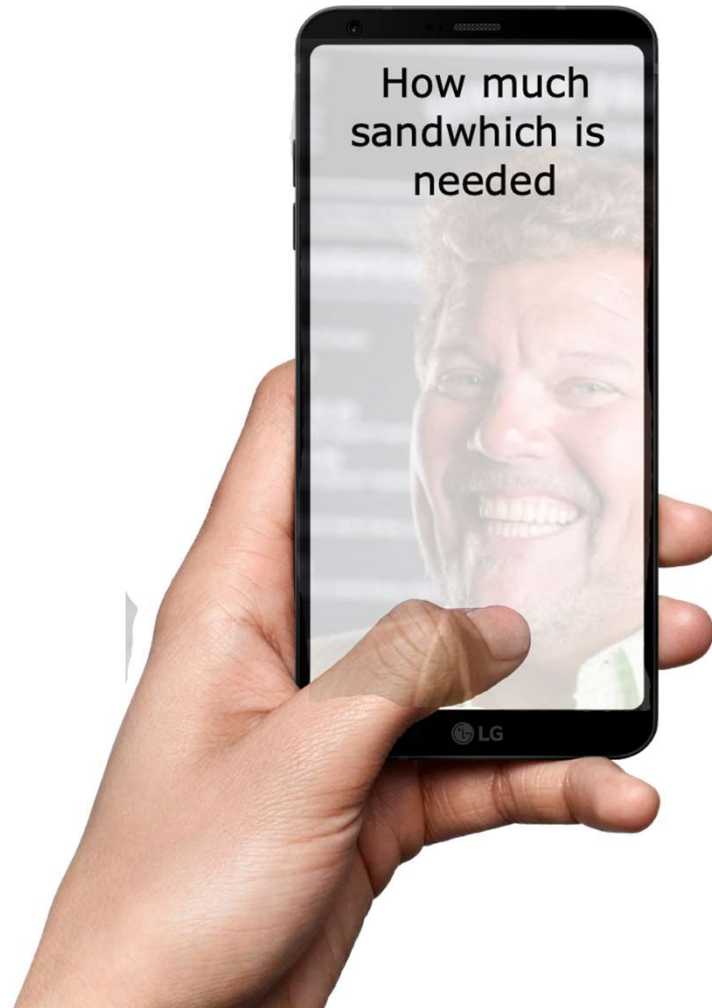

On his way to work Jimmy thought about how summer was approaching and how he would like to take his family on vacation. But their current funds wouldn't let them take a vacation for another year.

While Jimmy was browsing the web during his break he found an app that claimed to help with budgeting. He was skeptical but after a while he decided to try it out.

The app asked him a few questions on how he spends his money and what things were necessary. It also asked him what amount he wanted he wanted to save by the start of summer.

It helped him find the cheapest ingredients while also keeping quality to an acceptable degree.

With all the money he saved he managed to take his family on vacation and they all lived happily ever after.
